

Warm-up: How do we know what we know?

Unit 8: Civil War

Name:

Date:

Period:

"Whatever may be the future, the blast of the war trumpet has resounded already throughout the slave States, and while thousands are preparing for our defence, Texas is fully alive to the crisis. The requisition for three thousand men has already been acted upon by Gov. Clark, who has issued his proclamation for the raising of the troops. It needs but to be known to our people that their soil is in danger of being pressed by the feet of battalions of Northern soldiers."

- "State Gazette. (Austin, Tex.), Saturday, April 20, 1861." The Portal to Texas History

1. What can we learn about this era of Texas history from this primary source excerpt?

Warm-up: How do we know what we know?

Unit 8: Civil War

Name:

Date:

Period:

"Whatever may be the future, the blast of the war trumpet has resounded already throughout the slave States, and while thousands are preparing for our defence, Texas is fully alive to the crisis. The requisition for three thousand men has already been acted upon by Gov. Clark, who has issued his proclamation for the raising of the troops. It needs but to be known to our people that their soil is in danger of being pressed by the feet of battalions of Northern soldiers."

- "State Gazette. (Austin, Tex.), Saturday, April 20, 1861." The Portal to Texas History

1. What can we learn about this era of Texas history from this primary source excerpt?

How do we know what we know? Exit Ticket

1. Which of the following statements provide accurate information about the Civil War era of Texas history based on the primary source excerpts we analyzed today? Circle or highlight FOUR.

Most Texans supported secession, though some, like Sam Houston supported the Union	The primary cause of the Civil War between the North and South was the issue of slavery.	Texans not fighting in the war helped by trading through Mexico and providing supplies.
The war affected African Americans and women, as well as soldiers in the army.	Conflict with Mexico prohibited Texans from being able to successfully trade their goods.	Most Texans remained neutral during the conflict, preferring to avoid the violence of war.

How do we know what we know? Exit Ticket

1. Which of the following statements provide accurate information about the Civil War era of Texas history based on the primary source excerpts we analyzed today? Circle or highlight FOUR.

Most Texans supported secession, though some, like Sam Houston supported the Union	The primary cause of the Civil War between the North and South was the issue of slavery.	Texans not fighting in the war helped by trading through Mexico and providing supplies.
The war affected African Americans and women, as well as soldiers in the army.	Conflict with Mexico prohibited Texans from being able to successfully trade their goods.	Most Texans remained neutral during the conflict, preferring to avoid the violence of war.