

Warm-up: Looking Ahead

Unit 8: Civil War

Name:

Date:

Period:

Imagine it: It's 1865. After four years of fighting, the South is losing strength. The Civil War is going to be over soon. If you were the president of the United States when the war ended in 1865, how would you deal with the end of the war? Answer one or more of the questions below . . .

Questions to consider: Would you allow the South to come back into the country? Would there be requirements for them to return? Would there be a punishment for the people who rebelled, or would they be welcomed back into the country? What should happen for the for the newly freed people?

Warm-up: Looking Ahead

Unit 8: Civil War

Name:

Date:

Period:

Imagine it: It's 1865. After four years of fighting, the South is losing strength. The Civil War is going to be over soon. If you were the president of the United States when the war ended in 1865, how would you deal with the end of the war? Answer one or more of the questions below . . .

Questions to consider: Would you allow the South to come back into the country? Would there be requirements for them to return? Would there be a punishment for the people who rebelled, or would they be welcomed back into the country? What should happen for the for the newly freed people?

Looking Ahead Exit Ticket

Imagine it: It's 1865. You are living in Texas, one of the states that rebelled against the U.S. government during the Civil War. How do you hope the U.S. government deals with the South after the war? What do you hope happens for the South and Southerners in the states that rebelled?

Points of view to consider: How might a Southern Confederate respond to these questions? How might a newly freed Black Texan respond to these questions? Provide a response for one or both points of view.

Looking Ahead Exit Ticket

Imagine it: It's 1865. You are living in Texas, one of the states that rebelled against the U.S. government during the Civil War. How do you hope the U.S. government deals with the South after the war? What do you hope happens for the South and Southerners in the states that rebelled?

Points of view to consider: How might a Southern Confederate respond to these questions? How might a newly freed Black Texan respond to these questions? Provide a response for one or both points of view.