Sectionalism: A Nation Divided

Throughout the era of Early Texas Statehood, the sectional division between the Northern and Southern states intensified dramatically. There were many different opinions and points of view surrounding the increased sectional tension.

In this activity, you will analyze primary source materials discussing different aspects of the sectional division between the North and the South in the 1850s and 1860s. Your objective is to identify the main idea of each source and determine how the author feels about the topic – whether they support, oppose, or are neutral regarding the issue addressed, and why. It is not necessary to fully understand every word of each source. Instead, focus on the big ideas and themes.

Let's look at one primary source material together:

Title of Material
Main Idea / Topic
How does the author feel about this topic?	Quotes, words, or phrases that led you to make this conclusion

Directions: You will analyze any six of the ten primary source materials available. Record your analysis in the graphic organizers provided on the following pages.
