The Legacy of the Civilian Conservation Corps in the Lone Star State

The Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC) played an important role in establishing the state parks system that we have in Texas today. The CCC helped build 56 state, local, and federal parks in Texas during the 1930s. Today, there are more than 90 state parks in Texas. Twenty-nine of those parks were established by the CCC.

In this lesson, you will examine and report on one state park that the Civilian Conservation Corps helped establish during the Great Depression.
