

Warm-up: What's the Story?

Unit 4: The Mexican National Era

Name:

Date:

Period:

Directions: Complete the diagram below by making your best educated guess for the possibly cause and effect of each event.

What do you think could have CAUSED the event?	Event	What could a possible EFFECT of the event be?
	Spain, and later Mexico, opened Texas to immigration from Anglo-Americans from the United States.
	Under Mexico's constitution, Texas didn't have enough people to become its own state in Mexico.
	A small group of American immigrants in Texas tried to claim that the land they settled on in Texas was free from Mexico.

Warm-up: What's the Story?

Unit 4: The Mexican National Era

Name:

Date:

Period:

Directions: Complete the diagram below by making your best educated guess for the possibly cause and effect of each event.

What do you think could have CAUSED the event?	Event	What might a possible EFFECT of the event be?
	Spain, and later Mexico, opened Texas to immigration from Anglo-Americans from the United States.
	Under Mexico's constitution, Texas didn't have enough people to become its own state in Mexico.
	A small group of American immigrants in Texas tried to claim that the land they settled on in Texas was free from Mexico.

What's the Story? Exit Ticket

- ___ 1) Every era of Texas history that we learn about in this class has significant defining characteristics that make it different from other periods of time in Texas history. Which statement below gives the best summary of the defining characteristics of the Mexican National Era of Texas history?
- It was a period of time characterized by Texas population and economic growth due to conflicts between Centralists and Federalists that led to a civil war across Mexico.
  - It was a period of time primarily characterized by Texas' fight to gain separate statehood from Coahuila as Comanche raids across the state increased.
  - It was a period of time characterized by continued hardship in Texas as a result of the decreasing population and weak Texas economy as Centralists dominated political power in the government.
  - It was a period of time characterized by the growth of Mexican Texas due to the Empresario System, while facing political challenges from Centralists and Federalists who fought for power over the Mexican government.

What's the Story? Exit Ticket

- ___ 1) Every era of Texas history that we learn about in this class has significant defining characteristics that make it different from other periods of time in Texas history. Which statement below gives the best summary of the defining characteristics of the Mexican National Era of Texas history?
- It was a period of time characterized by Texas population and economic growth due to conflicts between Centralists and Federalists that led to a civil war across Mexico.
  - It was a period of time primarily characterized by Texas' fight to gain separate statehood from Coahuila as Comanche raids across the state increased.
  - It was a period of time characterized by continued hardship in Texas as a result of the decreasing population and weak Texas economy as Centralists dominated political power in the government.
  - It was a period of time characterized by the growth of Mexican Texas due to the Empresario System, while facing political challenges from Centralists and Federalists who fought for power over the Mexican government.